As it moves toward a 100% electric fleet, the Fresno County Rural Transit Agency is conducting an electrical grid study to examine possible grid enhancements to meet the needs of rural Fresno County. Enhancements can support future efforts related to:

- Electrification of 100% of FCRTA vehicles
- Reliability and resilience of the electric grid
- Increased access to and reliability of health and transportation services
- Carbon emission and air pollution reductions
- Economic development

Join the Fresno County Rural Transit Agency to learn more about how the electrical grid system provides us with the electricity we need while supporting our day to day lives and how communities can use the study for their future planning efforts.
